

World Environment Day Celebrated at Global Institutes

World Environment Day was celebrated at Global Institutes, Amritsar on 5th June, 2015 to promote awareness among students on the importance of preserving our biodiversity, the need to identify problems related to the environment and ways to take corrective action. The faculty and the students started the day by taking an environment oath. A special assembly was also organized for the same. The event was given the title "Save trees ,Save earth". The students pledged to plant and nurture trees and vowed to ensure that their family and neighbours too plant saplings. By pledging to promote a culture of environment-friendliness through recycling, water conservation and rain water harvesting, each one of them were inspired do their best to save their mother earth. Apart from this cultural programme was also organized which included the events like Giddha and Bhangra.
